

Dear Parents / Teachers:

Thank you for supporting the M is for Money™ book series. I hope you've enjoyed the books so far. They are all available for purchase in paperback, hardcover and ebook format at www.MisforMoney.ca.

M is for Money™ is a Kid's Guide to Financial Literacy™. The books offer you an opportunity to explain rudimentary facts about money to your children and students.

In Book 5, A Little Loan for Benji, Tessa and Benji travel to their local shopping mall with their mom and spend their own money for the first time.

Tessa has enough money to purchase the crayons she wants. When Benji realizes he doesn't have enough money to purchase a new toy car he'd like, Tessa offers him the loonie he needs. Mom provides a lesson in lending. When the twins return home, Dad prepares a note to remind Benji how much money he owes Tessa.

I hope this book and the others in the series give you and your children and students the opportunity to enjoy many conversations about money and money-related topics.

Tessa and Benji are heading to the mall to spend their money. Do you want to come along?

-Teresa

a kid's guide to financial literacy™ books follow the financial adventures of twin siblings

. They

introduce children to the concept of money, its use and value, as well as its charitable capabilities.

Visit www.MisforMoney.ca
for fun facts and to order Tessa and Benji play items!